

Academic Integrity Protocol 2024/25

School Academic Integrity Committee

The School Academic Integrity Committee (SAIC) consists of:

- Dr. Garrett Greene (Autumn Trimester)
- Dr. Michael Salter-Townshend (Spring and Summer Trimesters)
- Dr. Conor Sweeney (School Head of Teaching and Learning)
- Dr. Thomas Unger (Chair)

§0. Introduction for Students

This document should be read together with the UCD Student Code of Conduct, the UCD Academic Integrity Policy (AIP) and the UCD Student Academic Misconduct Procedure (SAMP).

It deals with all forms of academic misconduct as defined in §5 of the AIP, with a particular emphasis on plagiarism in a broad sense and the use of generative artificial intelligence.

Plagiarism is defined as passing off someone else's work and ideas as one's own.

Accidental or unintentional plagiarism is usually just poor academic practice. For example, not properly referencing or citing a source. Your lecturer will prompt you to make appropriate changes to your submitted work. A penalty may also be incurred.

Premeditated or intentional plagiarism on the other hand is considered a breach of academic integrity. Examples of such plagiarism include: collaborating with (an)other student(s) when this is not explicitly allowed; copying from (an)other student(s) with or without their knowledge; copying from internet sources (including code repositories) when this is not explicitly allowed; using (online) computational apps and problem solvers when this is not explicitly allowed; self-plagiarism (i.e., submitting work for a module that was already submitted for a different module). For a complete list, see §5 of the AIP.

Your lecturer will inform you at the start of the trimester what is considered plagiarism for their module, and whether and to what extent the use of generative artificial intelligence (such as ChatGPT) is allowed.

Intentional plagiarism will incur a penalty for all students involved, including the person(s) who willingly provided solutions (if applicable). Likewise, the use of generative artificial intelligence when this is not explicitly allowed will incur a penalty.

Penalties go from mild to severe (reduction of the assessment mark to NM, GPA capping, fine, suspension, expulsion, ...).

Confirmed cases of academic misconduct will be recorded. For serious incidents the UCD Student Discipline Procedure will be invoked.

If you are under pressure (academic or otherwise), reach out to your lecturer or to a student advisor. You can apply for assignment submission extensions through the extenuating circumstances process. Alternatively, a late submission penalty is always better than resorting to academic misconduct.

§1. Guidelines for Students

- §1.1 Students should familiarise themselves with the AIP and SAMP. They may also want to consult the section “Avoiding Plagiarism” on the Student Conduct website.
- §1.2 When submitting any assignment, it is understood that the student who submits the assignment abides by the AIP. Students should submit an academic integrity declaration for each assignment, as directed by the Module Coordinator (MC).
- §1.3 The UCD Library has resources and advice for students to avoid unintentional plagiarism (e.g. by not citing or quoting from other sources correctly).
- §1.4 Any suspected case of academic misconduct shall be investigated and remediated by the relevant MC and/or the SAIC. Any serious breach of the AIP shall be referred to the UCD Student Discipline Procedure. The Process Map (see Appendix 3) shall be followed; see also §2 below.
- §1.5 Repeat offences shall be referred to the SAIC. Cases of academic misconduct that are detected retrospectively shall be investigated by the SAIC and may result in the revision of already awarded module grades.

§2. Guidelines for Module Coordinators

- §2.1 At the start of each trimester, and for each of their modules, MCs should inform students about the AIP and SAMP and should make a copy of the School’s Academic Integrity Protocol available to them. MCs should inform and liaise with all staff that are associated with the module, in particular lecturers (where the MC is not the lecturer) and tutors.
- §2.2 MCs should ask students to submit an academic integrity declaration with each assignment. MCs should indicate clearly what constitutes an act of plagiarism for their module (e.g., copying from another student, copying from a website, using web-based tools, using web-based problem solvers, using web-based code repositories, etc.), and whether and to what extent the use of generative artificial intelligence is allowed. MCs should indicate what the penalty for late submission of assignments is. MCs should indicate what the penalties are for plagiarism and for unauthorised use of generative artificial intelligence for cases that are not referred to the SAIC.
- §2.3 Any investigation into and penalisation of an alleged case of academic misconduct shall follow the procedures outlined in the SAMP. The Process Map (see Appendix 3) shall be followed. Concerning plagiarism, there are three categories (cf. SAMP §4.2):
- a) Poor academic practice in referencing and citation and/or an offence involving 50% or less of the assessment component: these can be dealt with directly by the MC, but may be referred to the SAIC. Any repeat offence shall be referred to the SAIC. Any substantial offence (i.e., involving more than 50% of the assessment component) shall be referred to the SAIC. In case of referral to the SAIC, the procedure detailed in SAMP §5.2 shall be followed. In all cases the MC shall provide the SAIC with a short report containing all relevant details, including what penalty was applied in case of non-referral to the SAIC (cf. §3.1).
 - b) Cases that are referred to and managed by the SAIC.
 - c) Cases that are referred without decision to the UCD Student Discipline Procedure.
- §2.4 MCs can ask the SAIC for directions and advice (e.g., on what category possible plagiarism falls into, on repeated instances of plagiarism that are detected retrospectively at the end of a module).
- §2.5 Any allegation of academic misconduct shall be evidence based, with reference to §2.2. (For example, two students collaborating where this was not explicitly forbidden does not constitute an act of plagiarism.)

§2.6 Where a staff member associated to a given module (e.g., lecturer, tutor) suspects a case of academic misconduct, they must inform the MC.

§2.7 The MC and the SAIC shall ensure that any academic misconduct investigation is free of any conflict of interest.

§3. Penalties

§3.1 In the context of §2.3 a), where an MC does not refer the case to the SAIC, the MC shall apply a penalty that is proportional to the severity of the plagiarism. See also §2.2 above.

§3.2 In the context of §2.3 b) where a case has been referred to the SAIC: “AMBeR” Points shall be used to determine the penalty in accordance with §3.5 e) of the SAMP, see Appendix 1. Concerning the Amount/Extent of plagiarism:

- a) For essay type questions, penalty points between 80 and 225, as indicated in Appendix 1, shall be applied.
- b) For discrete assessment components, consisting of $n \geq 5$ parts, the following penalty points shall be applied ($\lceil x \rceil$ denotes the ceiling function):

between half of one part and one part	80 points
between one and $\lceil n/5 \rceil$ parts	105 points
between $\lceil n/5 \rceil$ and $\lceil n/2 \rceil$ parts	130 points
more than $\lceil n/2 \rceil$ parts	160 points

The sum of all awarded points shall then be used in accordance with the table in Appendix 2 to determine the final penalty.

§3.3 The penalties for unauthorised use of generative artificial intelligence shall be as described in §3.1 above for minor infringements and §3.2 above for major infringements, mutatis mutandis.

§4. Reporting Guidelines

When reporting a suspected case of academic misconduct to the SAIC, the following information should be included, and submitted to the full SAIC:

- Student name.
- Student number.
- Student email address.
- Module code and title.
- Programme and stage.
- Assessment strategy (list of components and their contribution to the module grade).
- Details of the assessment component under suspicion.
- A copy of the assessment instructions (e.g., problem sheet, final exam, ...).
- Evidence upon which the suspicion is based. Should include the original student submission. Should include an annotated copy of the student submission with suspicious sections highlighted. If there is a TURNITIN report, it should be included.

- Details of any actions taken and/or communication with the student. Should include any relevant correspondence with the student.
- The MC's assessment of the seriousness of the academic misconduct: mild (minor penalty), moderate (more significant penalty/capped resubmission or resit), severe (potentially requiring direct referral to Student Discipline Procedure).

Note:

- a) If more than one student is involved, the MC should provide the above information for all involved students, and should also provide an overview of the overall case against the students as a group.
- b) The MC's report will be included in the MC's or SAIC's correspondence with the student(s) subsequent to the start of the investigation procedure.
